12 Others Die In Europe Storms

18 Killed As Trains Collide During Blizzard In England

LONDON (AP) — Two British trains smashed together in a blizzard Wednesday night, killing at least 18 persons, and 12 other deaths were reported from Europe as Arctic winds pushed bitter winter southward across the continent.

Thirty-three more persons were injured when the London-bound Scot Express crashed into the rear of a local train stopped at Copenhall Junction 25 miles southwest of Manchester.

One of the dead was believed to be an American serviceman. Six children were among the dead.

The local was filled with travelers on the traditional after-Christmas Boxing Day holiday.

Broken dolls and toys were scattered among the wreckage.

A blizzard was blowing. "It was utter carnage," said Harold Shiff, a survivor, who told of trying to help a dying young woman whose mother had been tossed half way through a broken window.

Rescue squads, summoned from the surrounding areas of Cheshire over icy roads, worked by headlamps carrying the injured to a field to await ambulances.

Europe's piercing weather extended from the Far North to the Mediterranean, where it was an unwelcome surprise, and eastward to Siberia.

Two people were frozen to death in northern Portugal. It snowed in northern and central Spain, and Barcelona was almost isolated by the usual whiteness. Valencia oranges froze on the trees. Heavy rains collapsed at least 100 houses in Algeciras, across the bay from Gibraltar, and caused other destruction in the area.

Italy was wrapped in snow from the Alps to Sicily. In the Italian Alps, temperatures plunged to 31 degrees below zero at Trapelle, highest inhabited area in Europe. Italian newspapers reported the coldest Christmas of the century. Half a dozen deaths in Italy

Suspicion Mars Kashmir Talks

Pakistan, Red China Okay Border Pact

RAWALPINDI, Pakistan (AP) — Indian and Pakistani ministers opened negotiations over Kashmir today under a new cloud of mistrust blown up by announcement of a Pakistan-Red China agreement on their share of the border of the disputed state.

A vaguely worded Pakistani-Red Chinese announcement said Wednesday night an agreement in principle had been reached on the 200 miles of border between Red China's Sinkiang Province and that part of Kashmir on Pakistan's side of the U.N. cease-fire line dividing the Himalayan state.

In New Delhi, the announcement aroused surprise that was certain to turn into anger. There was no immediate public reaction from the Indian negotiators here, however.

Pakistan President Mohammed Ayub Khan called in the Pakistani and Indian delegation leaders soon after they sat down at the conference table. A reliable source said Ayub wanted to clarify the agreement with Red China.

It was understood he appealed for a settlement on Kashmir, over which India and Pakistan have feuded since 1947, "in the interests of friendly relations between the two countries and the security of the subcontinent."

It was because of Red China's thrust deep into India's Himalayan borderlands two months ago that India and Pakistan agreed, at the urging of Britain and the United States, to renew attempts to negotiate over Kashmir.

Britain and the United States wanted a settlement of the feud to ease themselves off a spot—a desire to meet nonaligned India's requests for arms and at the

Four Men Escape From E. Germany

BERLIN (AP) — Four young men escaped from East Germany to West Berlin during the night, bringing to 14 the number of successful escapes reported during the Christmas holidays.

A 26-year-old man climbed unobserved across the 8-foot-high wall on the border of the American sector borough of Neukölln.

Three men, 19 to 22, forced their way through the barbed wire on the British sector border with East Germany. An East German border guard spotted them and set off a flare. But they had reached safety.

The biggest group to escape consisted of four adults and four children in a bus that rammed through the barriers at the autobahn checkpoint of Babelsberg, just on the outskirts of West Berlin. The owner of the bus, Hans Weidner, 40, a war cripple who walks painfully on crutches, had planned the escape for six months.

Today the group was resting in the West Berlin refugee reception center.

One of the other two holiday capes was a border guard. He came over in uniform, carrying his Tommy gun, on Christmas afternoon.

Robberies Of Banks Up In '62

WASHINGTON (AP) — The number of bank robberies and thefts increased 25 per cent this year, FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover said today in an annual report to Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy.

At the same time, the FBI director claimed a marked step-up in bureau activities, cited accomplishments in combating organized crime and racketeering and struck the familiar theme that the Communist party and other subversive organizations pose a continuing threat within the United States.

Hoover said final tabulations for the year will show these marked increases in FBI accomplishments:

More than 12,700 convictions in FBI cases, compared with 12,418 in 1961; apprehension of some 11,400 FBI fugitives, compared with 10,668 last year, and fines, savings and recoveries totaling well over $200 million compared with $148,421,600 in 1961.

In reporting a jump in bank robberies and thefts, Hoover said an average of 100 robberies, burglaries and larcenies of banks and other financial institutions were reported to the FBI each month of 1962. This, he said, represented an increase of approximately 25 per cent over the number committed in 1961.

Five Persons Are Killed In Illinois Crash

MT. VERNON, Ill. (AP)—Five persons, including a mother and her three children, were killed in a two-car accident on U.S. 460 Wednesday night near this Southern Illinois town. Seven others were injured.

Dead are Mrs. Mary K. Shelton, 42, Joyce Shelton, 8, Kay Shelton, 11, Chester Shelton 12 and Kenneth Lewis, 19.

Police said a car driven by Floyd Shelton 48, was attempting a left turn into a country road, when it was struck by a car driven by Larry Martin, 18. Lewis was a passenger in Martin's car. All were from Mt. Vernon.

Invalid Rescued In Residence Fire

A wheel chair patient was carried to safety early today when fire broke out in the attic of his home.

Green Township Fire Department volunteers answered a call at the Wayne Beck residence of New Albany north of Salem at 6:20 a.m. and were able to confine the blaze to the chimney and attic area of the home after George Hyland, a resident in the Beck home, alerted Walter E. Smith, a neighbor, who called the fire department.

Hyland and Smith then rushed to the smoke-filled home and rescued Beck.

A defective chimney was attributed by Fire Chief Bert Schaefer to be the cause of the blaze. Schaefer estimates the damage at $200 to $300.

Military Chiefs, Kennedy Meet

JFK Gets Briefing On Nation's Might

PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP) — The Pentagon's civilian and military leaders give President Kennedy a rundown today on the nation's armed strength — and also get a chance to air conflicts over military projects and spending.

The President also arranged a late afternoon meeting with five high-ranking Cuban participants in the Bay of Pigs invasion — four of them just released from Cuban prisons.

For the President this is likely to be a bitter-sweet experience, with pleasure at their freedom mixed with the memories of the mistakes Kennedy acknowledges were responsible for their capture.

The morning meeting with the military chiefs — to be the backdrop for final presidential decisions on the $51-billion defense budget to go to Congress next month — is more of a post-Christmas regimen of decision-making that Wednesday found Kennedy considering details of his 1963 tax cut proposal.

For more than two hours, the President met with Secretary of the Treasury Douglas Dillon and other key financial advisers on the specifics of the tax package.

The broad outlines of the plan, envisioning lower tax rates early next year for both individuals and corporations, were approved several weeks ago. At Wednesday's session Kennedy got into many of the details and gave general approval to the Treasury's plans. However, several of the conferees reported that much work remains to be done.

Undersecretary of the Treasury Henry Fowler said it "was a good meeting but the program is far from buttoned up." Assistant Secretary Stanley S. Surrey, another participant, agreed.

Just as Dillon interrupted a vacation at nearby Hobe Sound, Fla., to take part in the tax cut talks, Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara had to leave the ski slopes of Aspen, Colo., to participate in the military discussions.

Flying in from Washington were Undersecretary of Defense Roswell L. Gilpatrick, Gen. Maxwell Taylor, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, and the three other members of the joint chiefs.

For Gen. Curtis E. LeMay, Air Force chief of staff, the meeting perhaps represented a last chance to get a top level hearing for arguments against scrapping the Skybolt air-to-ground missile that dominated last week's two power talks between Kennedy and British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan.

Longshoremen Patch Crack In Work Stoppage

Plans To Unload Cargo Canceled by S. Carolina Local

By The Associated Press
Stevedores in Charleston, S.C., have canceled plans to unload a cargo of seed potatoes today, as striking longshoremen shored up the single crack that had developed in their paralyzing work stoppage on East and Gulf Coast ports.

The Charleston local of the International Longshoremen's Association, AFL-CIO, broke the strike order Wednesday to unload bananas, and continued unloading them Wednesday night in defiance of orders from the union's national leadership to stop.

Cancel Plans To Unload

But the Charleston stevedores said they were canceling plans to unload the seed potatoes today—under pressure from top union officials. South Carolina farmers, hard-hit because of poor fall crops, had appealed to the union to unload the potatoes before they sprout.

The unloading of the bananas prompted Capt. William V. Bradley, ILA president, to assign a union vice president to the Southern city to investigate. He said the Charleston local could lose its charter by the action.

In Galveston, Tex., about 100 dockworkers who belong to an organization not connected with the striking longshoremen crossed picket lines under police supervision to unload a Swedish banana boat. There was no violence.

Ports Closed By Strikes

Outside of these isolated instances, however, the strike has effectively closed all East and Gulf Coast ports to all but military, dangerous or emergency cargoes, which the ILA itself has exempted from the strike provisions.

Among the cargoes halted by the 5-day-old strike of 60,000 longshoremen are two shiploads of wheat in New Orleans destined for East Pakistan. The Pakistan Embassy in Washington says the grain is urgently needed.

No bargaining sessions were scheduled for today.

Railroads placed a voluntary embargo on export freight shipments to struck ports in an effort to prevent a choking pileup of goods on the waterfront. Railroad spokesmen termed the action customary and said it would not affect military shipments.

Members of the New York Shipping Association, which represents 135 domestic and foreign lines, met Wednesday and voted confidence in the management negotiating committee.

Wilson Takes Mayor's Post In Hanoverton

HANOVERTON — George Wilson, president of Village Council the past six years, will be the next mayor, succeeding Howard Hart who is resigning Monday.

Owner of the Sunrise Supply Co. and a councilman eight years, Wilson will preside for Council's next regular meeting Jan. 7.

Mayor Hart, whose term runs until Dec. 31, 1963, is resigning partly for reasons of health and partly because of village controversy over malfeasance charges against Marshal Don Sheen. Hart is a retired Cleveland banker and has been mayor nine years.

Appointment of a new councilman and election of a new president will take place within 30 days.

By law Wilson was eligible to become interim mayor until next November as a result of Hart's

2 Hurt As Train Demolishes Auto

Two men en route to work at dawn today were injured when the car in which they were riding was struck by a westbound Pennsylvania Railroad train at the W. Wilson St. crossing.

In the eastbound automobile which was struck by the train at 6:47 a.m. were Russell Doyle, 42, of Damascus, the driver, and a Floyd Riley, 34, of 693 W. State St., a passenger in the Doyle car.

Riley is reported to be in serious condition with multiple injuries at Youngstown South Side Hospital. Doyle is said to be in fair condition at the Salem City Hospital with numerous injuries.

The men were on their way to the E. W. Bliss Co. plant where Riley has been a machine shop helper since 1960 and Doyle has been employed as a machinist since 1948. Both are family men.

Police reported that the train, after striking the car, pushed it 309 feet down the tracks. Witnesses told police the railroad gates were not working at the time of the accident.

Victims of the accident were taken to the Salem City Hospital, but Riley was transferred immediately to the Youngstown hospital for treatment of a fractured

Athens Man To Get Ohio Welfare Post

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Gov. Elect James A. Rhodes today announced the appointment of Denver L. White, currently president of the Ohio Welfare Conference, as state welfare director - designate.

White, of Athens, has served as Athens County welfare director for the last 15 years. Rhodes had promised during the recent campaign to name a professional welfare administrator to the state post.

An Ohio University graduate, White is a World War II Navy veteran. He has a bachelor of science degree in education, specializing in government and history, and a year of graduate study at Ohio University with all course work completed for a master's degree.

After teaching in the public schools, White served as a case-work supervisor in the Athens County Welfare Department. He has had 23 years of experience as a welfare worker.

White is past president of the Ohio Welfare Directors' Association. The son of Mr. and Mrs. Sanford White of Carbondale, Ohio, he is married to the former Clea Dusz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Dusz of Jacksonville, Ohio. They have two sons, Dr. Dennis W. White, a graduate of Johns Hopkins School of Medicine, now at Ford Hospital, Detroit, Mich., and Terry R. White, enrolled at Ohio State University School of Dentistry. Both sons are Ohio University graduates.

Mrs. White is administrative assistant to Dr. Rush Elliott, dean of the College of Arts and Sciences at Ohio University. Her husband will assume his new post at noon Jan. 14.

Much of U.S. In Frigid Grip

Cold Abates In West, Midwest

By The Associated Press
Temperatures moderated in most sections of the West and Midwest today but fairly cold weather held a tight grip across the major part of the nation.

There were some sub-zero readings this morning, in Utah and in sections of the Midwest. However, marks were far higher than the record lows for the date Wednesday morning in many Western and Midwest cities, with readings as low as 31 below zero.

The icy air moved eastward from the north central region and temperatures during the night were a few degrees below zero in parts of Illinois, Indiana, Michigan and near zero in Ohio.

It was a little chilly in the Southeast, except in most of Florida. Freezing weather prevailed in Tennessee, with temperatures in the 20s in western sections and in the 30s in northern sections of Georgia and Alabama and western North Carolina.

Only sections out of the freezing belt were the Pacific Coast, the extreme Southwest, southern Texas, the Southern tier of states from Louisiana eastward; the Carolinas and much of Virginia.

A fresh mass of Arctic air headed into the northern Plains and Upper Mississippi Valley and below zero temperatures were in prospect for much of the Midwest tonight.

Permit Granted For Mullins' New Office

Work is expected to begin Jan. 4 on a new office building for the Mullins Manufacturing Co., following issuance of a building permit Thursday by the city engineer's office for the new construction.

The permit was granted to Quaker Realty Co., a holding corporation, and was obtained by the Riley Construction Co.

Cost of the modern office structure was estimated at $150,000. It will be 100 by 135 feet and be built of concrete block and brick and will be erected on the site of the former Andalusia Dairy at Ellsworth and Franklin Avenues. The old building was razed to make way for the new construction.

The city will move a sanitary sewer line which runs beneath a corner of the building site. City Council okayed the work.

922 Give Up All Possessions To Flee Cuba

Red Cross Nurses, Doctors Ease Trip For Voluntary Exiles

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—The freighter African Pilot steamed into Port Everglades today, bringing 922 relatives of the Bay of Pigs invaders to freedom and joyous reunion with husbands, sons and fathers on American soil.

Devoting her last voyage to this errand of mercy, the 20-year-old African Pilot docked at the port near Fort Lauderdale, 25 miles northeast of Miami, at 9:01 a.m.

The rugged old workhorse of the sea, which had carried ransom supplies to Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro for the invasion prisoners, now goes into mothballs.

Seasickness, nervousness and a mild outbreak of measles aboard the ship failed to dampen the enthusiasm of the refugees who gave up everything they owned to escape Castro communism and join loved ones in the United States.

200 Watch Arrival

Only about 200 observers saw the freighter come in. The port was closed to all but newsmen and authorized officials. A big sign said "Welcome" in English.

The Red Cross reported nine cases of contagious disease aboard. Three ambulances were on the dock to pick up 11 stretcher cases.

An American flag flew from the stern of the freighter. One tug went out to help her in to the dock.

Joe McGowan, Associated Press writer representing American news agencies on the African Pilot, said many passengers remained awake through the night, too nervous and excited to sleep, on the trip.

"I have a bed," said one elderly refugee, "but who could sleep at a time like this?"

A tangle of excitement swept through the ship when the engines started Wednesday night in Havana harbor. As the ship moved out, the refugees sang the Cuba national anthem.

3 Youngsters Die In Fall From Cliff

OGDEN, Utah (AP) — It was cold but the sun was shining and the air fresh when three youngsters set out on a hike in Waterfall Canyon, a favorite playground in this northern Utah city.

Dr. Paul Southwick said his daughter, Shauna, 9, and her friends, Mark Way, 9, and Bonnie Ross, 8, didn't say how far they were going when they got parental approval of their venture.

The children left home about 3 p.m. Wednesday. They had been told not to stay away too long. At dusk the parents and neighbors searched the foothills, then the twisting trail that leads to the top of the canyon and its waterfall.

At 7:35 p.m., with the temperature a few degrees above zero and dropping, Dr. Southwick called officers. A jeep posse and a mountain rescue unit joined the search.

Two and a half hours later, the broken bodies of the children were found at the base of the 500-foot cliff.

Mark and Bonnie were dead. Shauna died enroute to a hospital. There is little water at the canyon summit this time of year but there is enough seepage to put a glaze of ice on the cliff.

Mr. and Mrs. Adin Harman entertained their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Dewey Harman of New Waterford and Mrs. Myrtle Sittler of Lisbon on Christmas.

The Doctor Says

By Dr. WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT

Health Questions And Answers

Q—What is Addison's disease? My husband has been told that he has it. Is it curable?

A—Addison's disease is a failure of function of the adrenal glands. This may be caused by simple atrophy, a wasting of the glands due to advancing age, or by a tuberculous infection that

Dr. Brandstadt has localized in the adrenals. The usual symptoms are tiredness and a uniform brown pigmentation of the skin over the whole body. As the disease progresses there may be nausea and vomiting, headache, and pain in the back.

Although this disease often used to be fatal, it is now possible to give adrenal cortical hormones to supplement the secretion of the failing glands. This treatment has been truly life saving.

Q—Is there a remedy for bed-wetting in older women? Sometimes I wake up in time but when this happens several times at night it interrupts my sleep.

A—I wish I could offer a simple remedy for your trouble. It is one of the burdens associated with aging. The muscles that control the outlet of your bladder have become weakened. In many persons lying down and relaxing of itself creates a desire to urinate.

In some persons a local irritation near the outlet of the bladder or an inflammation of the entire mucous surface of the bladder will cause this trouble. I would strongly urge that you have a urologist examine you.

Q—I have a steady roaring or ringing in my ears. Sometimes it makes me so dizzy that I vomit and can't keep my balance. My doctor is giving me a tranquilizer and it helps me some. I would like to know what causes this and whether there is anything else I should do.

A—The condition you describe is called Meniere's syndrome. It is a disorder of the inner ear which controls equilibrium. It may be due to a variety of causes. These include acute infections (such as influenza), anemia, a hyperactive thyroid gland, multiple sclerosis, a blow on the side of the head, and poisoning with alcohol, nicotine, quinine or arsenic. In persons who are past 60, hardening of the arteries is the most usual cause.

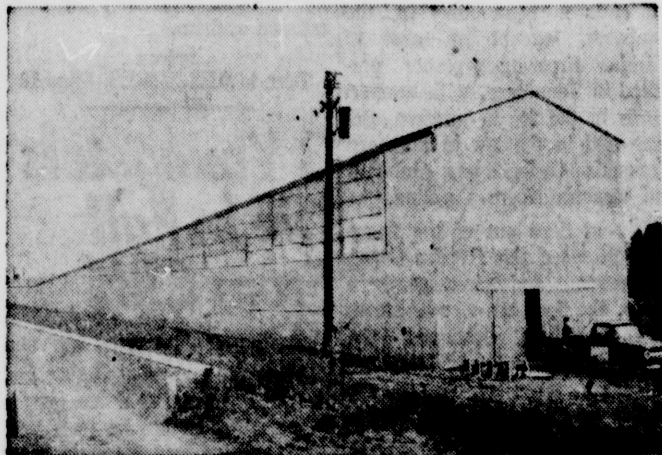

If there is any impacted wax in your ear it should be removed. Modern seasick pills sometimes help to relieve the dizziness but these should be prescribed by your doctor. A salt-poor diet helps some people with this condition. Nicotinic acid (a vitamin not to be confused with nicotine) may be helpful and so also may some of the newer diuretic drugs — drugs that cause an outpouring of body fluids with the urine.

They're making pea soup fog to order. Studies of airport runway lighting in conditions of low visibility are being made by the Federal Aviation Agency in a new fog chamber at Richmond, Calif. The chamber, 800 feet long and 30 feet wide, provides a laboratory for lighting research in fog conditions. A mixture of compressed air and water produces fog comparable in every way to natural fog. Experimental airport lighting patterns are laid out on the model-runway floor of the chamber on a 10 to 1 scale. Overhead, a three-passenger airplane cockpit rides under steel rails from the 30-foot end of the chamber to the 10-foot end, simulating aircraft approaches from 3,000 feet at speeds up to 130 knots.

TV Viewer Asks Campaign On Toothbrush Commercials

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP)—A television viewer, aware that various campaigns are currently under way to save programs canceled by networks, suggests another kind of effort.

"I wonder if you and some of your colleagues would undertake a crusade to stop the cleaning of teeth in the living rooms of the nation?" she writes.

I'd like to start the campaign on a slightly larger base. I'd welcome a surcease from toothbrushers—particularly that fellow who continues to scrub away at a restaurant table. But I would also like to abolish the shavers, the perspiration offenders, the respiratory sufferers, the draining sinuses, the churning stomachs, the germ-laden mouths and throats, showering and bathing men and women.

In fact, any commercial which deals with functions normally performed in the privacy of one's bathroom or bedroom—and this also includes combing of hair — are likely to be offensive to a large and perhaps old-fashioned segment of the viewing audience.

However, if television were to ban the advertising of all of these articles, stations would probably wind up each year in the red.

Perhaps we viewers ought to ask only for higher standards.

"Mr. Smith Goes to Washington," the situation comedy that got Fess Parker out of a coonskin cap and into the Senate, may not last a full season on ABC. Perry Como's hour, also suffering from dropping ratings, is interested in big-name guest stars again.

The new Nielsen ratings confirm the continuing popularity of CBS shows—the network has eight of the top 10, with "Beverly Hillsbillies" still far out in front. "The Wizard of Oz," the Judy Garland classic, slipped into the number two spot, followed by "Candid Camera," "Bonanza," Red Skelton, "Gunsmoke," Danny Thomas, Lucille Ball, Dick Van Dyke and "Ben Casey."

Recommended tonight: "McHale's Navy," ABC, 10-10 (Eastern Standard Time); "Andy Williams Show," NBC, 10-11—Tennessee Ernie Ford in his first guest appearance this season.

Topics of Interest To Farmers; Notes About Meetings

By OVID A. MARTIN

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman feels the name of his department is not broad enough, that it should be changed, perhaps, to the Department of Food, Agriculture and Rural Affairs.

Certainly changing times, the assumption of new responsibilities placed on the department by Congress and the White House and the development of new problems in rural America outside the scope of agriculture offer Freeman fertile ground for suggesting a change in the department title. He has told newsmen of his views.

Food programs, as such, are becoming an increasing sphere of department activity that may become larger. There are for example, the food donation, food stamp and school lunch programs.

With agriculture becoming more efficient and requiring less land and fewer workers, the tasks of finding opportunities for underemployed and displaced farmers is becoming a major part of the work of Freeman's department. Hence his suggestion that the department's title be broadened to take in rural affairs.

Freeman himself believes that in a relatively short time, the work of his department in the rural areas development field will overshadow activities relating to crop control, price support and surplus management.

The secretary feels that a broadening of the title of his department to include the nonfarm activities would help give the public a fuller appreciation of his agency's work — work which now, he says, many believe to be limited to aid for agriculture. In outlining these views, Freeman did not indicate whether he would press for legislation to make a change in the department's official name.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Agriculture Department has issued regulations making it illegal for any meat packer or livestock dealer to charge or collect compensation from livestock sellers for services rendered in connection with such purchases.

This means that no packer or dealer may charge, demand or collect from the seller of livestock any compensation in the form of commission, yardage or other service charge.

This new regulation is scheduled to go into effect about March 1.

The department ruled, after a prolonged hearing and consideration of the regulation, that any such charge was an unfair trade practice under provisions of the Packers and Stockyards Act.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Prices for farm foods at the grocery store may run a little lower in 1963 than they did this year.

The Agriculture Department says it foresees such a possibility. Farmers are expected to get slightly lower prices for most products than this year. Marketing charges are not expected to increase.

The farm share of the consumer food dollar is expected by the department to average 38 cents next year, the same as in 1961 and 1962.

The Great Letdown

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Now cometh upon the spirit of man the time of the great letdown.

The lights still blink at night on the Christmas tree, but they lost a great deal of their joy.

The new bike already has its first scratch, there is a hole in the new drum—heaven be praised for that!—and the children are cranky and cross.

Damascus Social

Mrs. C. T. Shreve entertained at a family dinner Christmas with Misses Mabel Shreve and Mrs. Charles Allenbaugh of Alliance, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Phillips, Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Shreve and Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Bircher in attendance.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Whitcher entertained at a family dinner Christmas. Attending were Mr. and Mrs. Emmett Caldwell of Guilford Lake, Mrs. Iva Bauman, Mr. and Mrs. Lester Bauman and Mr. and Mrs. Gene Morton.

MRS. ALICE PHILLIPS spent Christmas and remained to visit with her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Earle Shevel of Warren.

Mr. and Mrs. Dwight Phillips and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Lautzenheiser spent Christmas with Mr. and Mrs. Buhel Linck of Niles, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Baird of Deerfield accompanied them. Mrs. Henrietta Bullard spent Christmas with her cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Grace of Stewart Rd.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert B. Moore entertained at a family dinner Christmas. Attending were Mr. and Mrs. Joe Moore of Kent, Mr. and Mrs. Terrence Henretta, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Mitchell and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Moore.

MR AND MRS. FOSTER McBride received a Christmas greeting telephone call from their son, PO 1 C. Richard McBride of Jacksonville, Fla.

Mrs. Grace Banning of Cortland visited recently with her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Williams.

Rev. and Mrs. C. R. McPherson were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Winslow for a few days recently. They joined his parents Mr. and Mrs. F. S. McPherson at Stuart Ia.

Mrs. Richard Apple entertained members of the Hi Lo Club recently, with 500 played.

Mrs. Robert Kinser and Mrs. William Bauman Jr. received prizes. Mrs. Roy Booth and Mrs. Apple received gifts for their wedding anniversaries from their secret pals.

Mrs. Merle Courtney will receive the group Tuesday evening, Jan. 15.

Members of the E Double T Club held a Christmas party at Barnett's.

Christmas favors were pine arrangements and candles in charge of Mrs. Jerd Dow assisted by Mrs. W. A. Talbott. Mrs. Fred White, Mrs. Joseph Kertes and Mrs. Emil Meissner were guests. Mrs. Wayne Jenkins will receive the group Jan. 18.

Senior Friends Youth Fellowship of the Friends Church was entertained at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Hoffman, with Miss Patricia Hoffman hostess, for a Christmas party.

Games were in charge of Miss Leanna Bell. Lunch was served by Patricia and her mother, Mrs. Melvin Hoffman, assisted by Mr. and Mrs. Wendell Santee, counselors, with 23 in attendance.

Friendship Circle of the Methodist Church was entertained by Mrs. George Stanford, with Mrs. Frank Delzell associate hostess.

A casserole dinner was served with 18 in attendance. The next social will be held Jan. 16.

Third baseman Felix Torres hit in 15 straight games for the Los Angeles Angels last season. The former mark was 14 straight, set by Steve Bilko in 1961.

The good housewife sits down determinedly to make out a list of presents that have to be taken back and exchanged for more useful articles.

But the pencil droops in her hand as she looks around her cluttered home and sighs: "What a mess. Will I ever get this place straightened up again?"

The man of the house secretly takes out two of the four neckties he received, and furtively throws them down the incinerator.

He worries about the unpaid bills. He rises late to go to work, and broods over the treadmill nature of his job. He entertains wild daydreams of running away from home and becoming a beachcomber on a far away South Seas isle. He wonders idly whether the pretty girls there really do weave garlands of flowers to hang around a fellow's neck, or whether that's all just Hollywood poppycock.

There is no help in nature. The tired foot falls on snow or slush. The Weather Bureau and the almanac agree that more storms lie ahead. The first robin of spring is still getting a suntan down south.

Everyone who felt so bouncy and happy and generous just a few days ago now feels worn out and self-pitying and suspicious of the character and intentions of his neighbors. Yes, there's something gone wrong with us all.

The waiting rooms of doctors are suddenly thronged with patients afflicted with sniffles and symptoms of a vast ennui.

The young physicians listen to descriptions of these ailments sympathetically, and worry perhaps whether the community is in the grip of some new contagious malady.

The old doctor is wiser. He looks out the window absent-mindedly as his middle-aged patient gives a catalog of his aches and pains and winds up by asking hopefully:

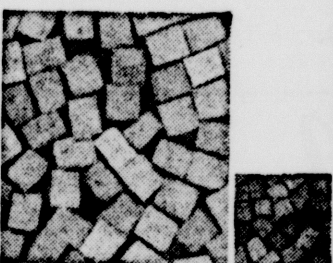

"Do you think I've got walking pneumonia, doc?"

Actually the old doctor knows his patient is merely suffering from seasonal idiocy, but he can't put it to him in quite that way.

"No, it isn't pneumonia, John," he tells him. "You're just a victim of post-Christmas let down. There's nothing wrong with you that a couple of aspirin tablets smaller meals, a little exercise and two hours more sleep a night won't cure."

And as his patient leaves, the old doctor comments silently, "That's what I ought to prescribe for myself, too."

Yep, that's the national malady of the moment—post-Christmas letdown. But in the bottomless torpor of mind and body that grips us all now there is one consoling thought: The disease is temporary and almost never fatal.

Talks Set Friday In Newspaper Strike

CLEVELAND (AP)—The strike against Cleveland's two daily newspapers stretched through four full weeks today. The next bargaining session was scheduled for Friday evening with Teamsters Local 473, one of the two striking unions.

Officials of the morning Plain Dealer and Scripps-Howard's afternoon Cleveland Press and News met Wednesday in separate negotiations with the Teamsters and the Cleveland Newspaper Guild.

The Guild, which bargains for 688 editorial department employees of the two papers and Press, met for four hours with management negotiators. Federal mediator Gilbert J. Seldin recessed the talks until 2:30 p.m. Saturday. Neither side commented about the long meeting.

Coed Braves Icy Water To Save Dog

WASHINGTON (AP)—A lively little nipper of a dog whimpered from an ice floe in the Potomac River.

Pretty Barbara Foster spotted it, stripped down to her undies and swam 50 yards to the rescue as evening rush hour traffic whizzed by Wednesday near the Jefferson Memorial.

The shivering German shepherd eyed her as she made her way through the chill water, then promptly bit her four times before the two were picked up by a Fire Department rescue boat.

"Ingrate Mongrel," said the police. "You wouldn't leave a human out there to drown, would you?" asked Miss Foster, 20, a junior at the University of Illinois.

Forcing the Hand of Congress

Perhaps it's a simple case of having enough rope to hang themselves. Or it may be a more complex force causing labor unions to be forcing the hand of Congress.

The United States is not ready for an absence of law and organization responsibility that makes it feasible for handfolds of its citizens to trip up and waylay public convenience, public safety and economic necessity.

This is the reason the original Taft-Hartley Act, to slow down the headlong abuse of union power, was passed. It had become evident that the public had been left unprotected by the inordinate use and abuse of unionism.

Unionists were proving to be as reckless with their economic power as employers had been when there was no curb on their behavior. Congress had no choice but to reflect the opinion of the public that something needed to be done to create a better balance of power.

TO THIS DAY, Democratic politicians, obligated to the labor unions that underwrite their party's campaign efforts, complain about the Taft-Hartley Act while using it in behalf of public welfare. Some of them would welcome further legislation in this field, even while pretending to be against it while their labor union friends were watching.

When the 88th Congress meets in January it may have a chance to consider stiffer legislation to protect the public against strikes. It makes no sense that handfolds of people in strategic spots can make decisions that cripple entire areas and cause widespread hardship and economic dislocation—even to paralyzing defense efforts.

A government that can tie up platoons and brigades of legal talent for years while sniffling into management affairs for signs of trade restraint surely can be expected to protect its people against sand-bagging by unionists.

A government that can make business organizations go through protracted hearings and investigations before they can make a move that might have important repercussions and which actually controls transportation surely can take steps to avert arbitrary decisions to tie the public in knots.

THE KENNEDY administration, sympathetic it is to unbridled unionism.

When Arthur J. Goldberg was secretary of labor in President Kennedy's Cabinet, he warned that he would ask Congress for laws to halt strikes at missile plants and sites if unions called walkout.

Currently, strong hints are circulating in Washington of congressional impatience with strikes that cannot be averted or stopped once they've begun.

The Kennedy administration itself isn't likely to ask for new and stronger labor legislation.

But the 88th Congress might run out of patience if it returns to Washington next month in a transportation strike crisis.

By DAVID LAWRENCE

The biggest event in government after the holiday season is unquestionably the coming battle in Congress

David Lawrence
get his wish. The after-election declarations by the Democrats that they had swept the country gave the impression that Mr. Kennedy had won but often the actual facts of what happened and the impression the American people derive from reading partisan statements are not always the same.

So the comments recently made by the President himself become more pertinent, as evidently he himself has no illusions about the outcome of the congressional elections.

Now that there has been time to digest what really happened, it is interesting to examine what the President himself said on two occasions to newsmen in his size-up of the election.

IN THE FIRST comment at a press conference on Nov. 20, Mr. Kennedy said in answer to a question asking him what effect the election might have on his program in the next Congress:

"Well, I think we probably will be in a position somewhat comparable to what we were in for the last two years. We did better than we had hoped in the election, but we still did not pick up seats, and we lost in one— a number of votes by very close margins, particularly in the House.

"It really will depend on whether we can maintain a good deal of unity in the Democratic party and also whether we re-vote unanimously against us and we lose 40-odd Democrats, about one-fifth of our number, then we will have difficulty. If we get the kind of Republican support that we got at the beginning of last year in the rules fight, then we can put some of these important programs through. So I think we have to wait until they come back before we can make a judgment and we may be in about the position we were in the last two years."

In his Dec. 17 conversation on television with three radio-TV newsmen on the major networks, the President again was asked to measure the chances for significant success domestically in the Congress just ahead. He replied:

"Well, I think we will be about in the same position as the last two years. As I say, what we have that is controversial will be very closely contested."

MR. KENNEDY was then asked if the complexion of the House hadn't changed a little bit by the shifts. The transcript shows this answer:

"I would say slightly against us more than it was. We are not in quite as good shape as we were for the last two years, but we are about where we were the last two years, which means that every vote will be three or four votes either way, winning or losing."

The outstanding fact, of course, is that, despite all the headlines which appeared right after the elections about the big Democratic victory, the result was about a standoff between the two parties. While it is true that the Democrats called it a victory because it wasn't as big a decline for them as in other years, and while it is also true that the Republicans had high hopes of increasing substantially their strength in Congress, the significant point was the impact of the President's own appeal. Despite the most intensive campaign effort prior to a congressional election ever made by an American president in midterm, the voters failed to heed his request for an increased majority.

So Mr. Kennedy is today confronted with a real dilemma. He says he wants the kind of Republican support in Congress that he had at the beginning of last year, but he is not sure whether as many Republicans will line up with him as in the past.

Republican members already are saying Mr. Kennedy was not grateful to them and went into their districts calling for their defeat.

THE CHANCES are the conservative coalition of Republican and Democrats will be stronger against the President next year than it was before. Also, some Democrats from the South who occasionally supported the President's program may feel the pressure of Southern bitterness against the administration, especially as the Republican organizations now are building up in the South. The outlook for the administration program is therefore affected by all these uncertainties.

History Today

Today is Thursday, Dec. 27, the 361st day of 1962. There are four days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this day in 1939, the Black Sea coast of Northern Anatolia, Turkey, was devastated by earthquake shocks, floods and extreme cold and snow. More than 30,000 persons were killed, 100,000 were injured and a half million more made homeless.

On this day: In 1776, Congress granted powers over military matters for a period of six months.

In 1832, John Calhoun became the first vice president of the United States to resign.

In 1892, the cornerstone was laid for the Protestant Episcopal Cathedral of St. John the Divine in New York.

In 1949, Queen Juliana ended 347 years of Dutch rule by signing an act transferring sovereignty to the newly formed United States of Indonesia.

In 1954, the United States regained the Davis Tennis Cup from Australia.

Ah Yes, Old-Fashioned Winters

We finally found the fellow who used to make a pest of himself by wondering what became of old-fashioned winters. It had been a desperate search.

It seemed for a time he must have departed for some less rigorous climate, or perhaps that he'd died. But he was hiding; he was ashamed.

"I should have known better," he babbled when he was found huddled back of a gasping furnace. "I didn't really know what old-fashioned winters were like when I talked about them as if they were like old-fashioned virtues."

"All I had in mind was sleigh bells and through the woods to Grandmother's house. Snow drifts, frozen plumbing and exhaustion from shoveling snow were out of my line."

"I didn't even know about tire chains, keeping the highways open and heating bills."

All it ever meant to me when I shot off my mouth about old-fashioned winters was Christmas card pictures, wassail bowls and Yule logs.

"I never had seen a real snow emergency. I didn't know how it feels to have your nostril freeze shut when it's blowing a gale at five below zero. My ears never had been frost-bitten. As far as I knew, an old-fashioned winter was Bing Crosby crooning about a white Christmas. I know better now."

"That's why I am huddled behind this furnace. I am afraid to look out the window; it might be snowing again. I have been having nightmares about snow shovels. Just let me alone. Better yet, give me a call on Groundhog Day and we'll see how things shape up at that time. Until then, forget you ever remembered me."

Makes No Sense Here Either

One demonstration more or less against a United States embassy makes no difference in a world whose mischief-makers can turn demonstrations off and on like tap water.

But one more demonstration against the United States in Elizabethville by students in Kaanga Province, Republic of Congo, makes a substantial difference.

Dr. Albert Schweitzer has expressed his view that Americans and other white men should pull out of the Congo and let the tribesmen who live there fight their own battles in their own way and in their own time. He thinks intervention makes no sense in Africa.

This very easily could become the view of Americans who have been disenchanted about the prospects of creating order out of Congolese chaos. Intervention makes no sense here either. There is only one compelling reason that would cause Americans to play the role of "fall guys" in the Congo, while their United Nations associate hold back to win the approval of a hands-off faction in the native population.

If it could be demonstrated beyond doubt that the Soviet Union was trying to break in where the United States should be trying to break out, that would make a difference. Otherwise, the United States should take Dr. Schweitzer's sound advice.

Either the U.N. project of pacifying the Congo and bringing Katanga Province into the Leopoldville government should be supported by all U.N. members, or the United States should withdraw its support.

There are enough ways and enough places for Uncle Sam to have his throat cut without going to Africa to have it cut there.

Letter From Max

By Martin Miller

Dear Truman Twill:

You have known me long enough to know I always try to do things the easy way. I have one of the world's biggest collections of labor-saving gadgets. Why break your back or finger if you can get a machine to break its back or finger?

Where do people get off saying, "As long as we have machines we will need people to keep the machines running right?"

What they mean is, "As long as we have people we will need machines to keep the people running right."

The fondest hopes of the industrial revolution have long since been surpassed, and this is only the beginning.

You drive to work in a jalopy. When you get to work you punch a time clock, then you make like a typewriter jockey with one eye on the time.

This started when the second cave man borrowed the first cave man's club to use as a lever to move a boulder from the mouth of the cave.

From that early day, things kept getting better. Someone even put a whistle on a tea kettle for people who couldn't tell when the water was boiling.

Automobiles have special lights that flash to tell homo sapiens when he is exceeding the speed limit.

You look at the thermostat to see if you are warm enough.

Only primitive peoples use knives to sharpen pencils. The civilized use pencil sharpeners, and the most civilized use electric ones.

As for that malarkey about people being necessary to keep machines going: how many times has your alarm clock or clock radio come on at dawn on your day off when you forgot to turn it off the night before? So who's smarter?

You get your finger smashed when the screen door closes but the screen door was doing its job and it was your error. Any way you look at it, machines do their job better than humans and that is why we grouch so much about mechanization. You would like to be able to sew as fancy and fast as a sewing machine.

Don't worry about Frankenstein; he wants to be friendly. All you have to worry about is being brainy enough not to mash your thumb in his mechanism.

And this has not even mentioned another great field: Cosmetics and a multitude of devices to enhance the human silhouette. Men employ the simplest of artifices, such as padded shoulders, to make them look more like men, but women employ fiendishly complex contrivances to make them look more like women.

In the spirit of the season, here's wishing you all the best for Christmas, and knowing your penchant for things mechanical may Santa bring you what you've always wanted: and electric train.

Faithfully yours,

MAX

"Just Tell Me What's In Your Mind"

Miners Feud In the Fields

By VICTOR RIESEL

WASHINGTON, D.C.

Re-echoing through the capital are the deadly sounds of class warfare in the Kentucky-West Virginia mine fields. In one battle, 500 shots were fired amid 40 dynamite blasts.

These skirmishes mean many things to many men. But to the insiders who have come through coal wars of old, the ricocheting bullet whines beat out a grim tune that says—when an industry is in trouble, the union is in trouble. When an industry grows weak, the union weakens—even the most colorful, and once powerful, and most melodramatic of unions such as the United Mine Workers (UMW).

There was a time when its president (now emeritus), the leonine John L. Lewis, would stir greater excitement by merely walking through the Carlton lobby here, than Elizabeth Taylor did when she brushed by me in the lobby of London's Dorchester last week. Mr. Lewis fought and defeated presidents of the United States on the industrial front.

WHEN HE SPOKE of a possible strike, great cities "browned out" to save fuel. But today there are few who are aware even of the new acting president of the United Mine Workers. Few know that John L. has spent much of his recent time gently nursing a very sick sister in his home city of Springfield, Ill. When I was there, few knew he, too, was in town.

Few know that the UMW president, Tom Kennedy, has been ill and that the acting president is W. A. (Tony) Boyle. There is a sadness about all this, for once the union and the mine operators battled each other mightily, bloodily and did not seem to realize until almost too late that only in unity is there industrial strength.

Back in 1921, the United Mine Workers and John Lewis, the man for whom the land would stand still and listen when he spoke, had some 610,000 members. Today there are but 176,000 regularly employed. Lewis drove hard bargains.

BACK IN THE 40's I watched him put into effect a 5-cent a ton union welfare tax on coal. This he worked up to 40 cents a ton, or $24 a car. During the fiscal year of 1961, this tax drew $114.49 million from the coal industry. Much of the money went for great projects, such as 10 hospitals, seven of them in Kentucky. But the union royalty tax also began weakening the smaller mines in a weakening industry—an industry besieged by the spread of other fuels such as gas and oil, and foreign imports. These hit coal sales just as the new nuclear power, now looming over gas and oil, may someday hit them.

Sales plummeted. The price of coal at the mines has hovered around $5 a ton since 1946. Not a rise in price there since.

Soon some of the smaller mines, and the trucking mines (those without rails) stopped paying the royalty to the UMW Welfare and Retirement Fund. In some areas the union cracked down. Elsewhere the union didn't.

FINALLY THE FUND, which operates independently of the union, notified both sides that the coal diggers could not use the hospitals unless the men had their welfare cards and they would not get these if their employers were not paying the royalty.

In the Kentucky-Southern West Virginia fields many a former union member went over to the smaller mines to work for less. Then came a spread of "non-contract" mines. Finally not so long ago some of the defectors, faced with working the marginal pits or starving, joined the Southern Labor Union in Kentucky.

This is an outgrowth of the old Scott County Miners Union. But it is not the United Mine Workers Union of great tradition under the once fiery and thunderous John Lewis.

And so UMW members, working for unionized mines which have been losing some of the market to the lower-cost pits, began taking days off. They got up caravans, sometimes 50 cars strong. They put their womenfolk in. They then began roaming the mine fields on special missions—to "teach" their former union brethren not to work non-contract, non-welfare, non-royalty-tax coal operations.

A WORLD WATCHING fronts on which there may be louder, more modern explosives, has not heard much of the ensuing battles. No one quite knows who did what to whom and whose property. But it was done. Tipples have been burned. So have houses,

Matter of Fact

If you bring home red wine and the menu calls for white, just decolorize the red one by filtering it through charcoal. Wine lovers will certainly be able to tell that you have the wrong wine, but any chemists in the group will admire your scientific knowledge. When shaken with a colored solution, filter-type charcoal often retains the colored substances, leaving the solution colorless.

businesses, cars and trucks. The shooting goes on even as reports reveal that in the week of Dec. 10 there were one million fewer tons of coal needed and mined in the United States than exactly a year ago.

There is unity between the union and the coal producers here in Washington now. They all work together on research and on marketing.

But "over there" men fight for their daily bread. For, when lack of unity lets an industry grow ill, the union grows sick, too.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: My husband is a bright, hard-working young man who is wildly ambitious. He is determined to wind up on top of the financial heap regardless of what it takes to get there.

Several months ago he went to work for a firm which offered him a fine salary and an opportunity to meet important people in his field.

It has been seven months now since we made the move and my husband is disappointed in the firm. He has had several misunderstandings with the executives and feels they have failed to make good their promises.

It embarrasses me when he speaks disparagingly about his colleagues even though what he says is true. I've tried to tell him that it's neither wise nor honorable. I can say as well talk to the wall. Can you help? — A YOUNG WIFE.

Dear Wife: This is what Elbert Hubbard has to say on the subject. Clip it out for your husband. It may change his approach.

"On Loyalty: If you work for a man, in heaven's name speak well of him and stand by the institution he represents."

"If you must growl, condemn and eternally find fault, resign your position and, when you are on the outside, damn to your heart's content. But so long as you are a part of the institution do not condemn it or the first high wind that comes along will blow you away and you will never know why?"

Awkward Problem

Dear Ann: I am 33 years old and have a nice family. My father had been a widower for six years and recently married a woman who is only 10 years older than I am. She is pleasant and we are all delighted that Dad has found someone who will be a companion to him.

The problem is this: I am at a loss for words when I introduce this woman to my friends. My husband says she is my mother, regardless of her age, since she is married to my father. I find it utterly impossible to introduce her as my mother—the words stick in my throat. "Stepmother" is equally awkward—it makes me feel like Cinderella.

So, Ann Landers, what is the proper way to introduce her?—DOO.

Dear Dodo: This woman is not your mother. She is your father's wife. Introduce her as your father's wife. Then add her first name.

One Big Mistake

Dear Ann: The letter from the man complaining about his idiot wife who was a Radcliffe graduate sounds like my husband wrote it.

I'd like to present my side: Sure, I let the bath water run over occasionally when I get to talking on the phone. And I don't deny that I sometimes forget where I put the keys, the baseball gloves, and even the kids, once in awhile. But there is a plausible explanation.

When a person is emotionally upset he can forget his own name. I'm lucky not to be completely cuckoo considering what I put up with from that lumox.

To begin with, he is envious because I am a college graduate and he flunked out of Swarthmore in his sophomore year. Whenever I attend an alumni meeting he says I am reverting to my second childhood.

I've stuck by him through one "raunchy" affair after another. He has run the female gamut, from 16 to 60. The man simply loathes work. If he weren't working for his father he'd be on unemployment compensation.

I'm forgetful. So what? What I'd REALLY like to forget is that I was stupid enough to tie up with this baboon.—ALSO RADCLIFFE.

Dear Also: Thanks for writing. You have my sympathy.

Top Secretary

Dear Ann: It is apparent that the secretary who signed herself "Seattle" has never worked in a small organization.

I have been a secretary for 25 years. I also make a fine salary and am considered top caliber. We have janitorial services for general cleaning but they are not on call at all hours of the day.

What would this "top caliber" secretary do if she spilled coffee on the floor, or on her desk? Would she let it stand until the janitors arrived?

Many a time I have opened windows to air out a stuffy office, emptied ash trays, watered plants, rearranged furniture, cleaned and dusted, washed coffee cups and percolators.

Such tasks are not demeaning. They are the small chores that a conscientious secretary performs because she takes pride in her work. — NOT TOO PROUD.

Dear Not Proud: Cheers, Girl! I'm with you.

Mrs. Donald G. Horgan

Susan Waithman Bride Of Donald G. Horgan

Rev. Sherman Brantingham of the Ohio Yearly Meeting of Friends officiated at the 7:30 p. m. candlelight service Saturday in Winona Methodist Church, uniting in marriage Miss Susan Waithman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul K. Waithman of Winona, and Donald G. Horgan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Brooks of Lynn, Mass.

Rev. Brantingham was assisted by Rev. Frank Tully, pastor of the church.

The double ring ceremony was performed at an altar graced with red and white poinsettias and greens, and lighted with seven-branch candelabra and window candles.

Miss Melva Outland was recitationist, and Mrs. Donald Dusenberry played traditional wedding music.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a full-length gown of white peau satin with fitted bodice, sweetheart neckline and elbow-length sleeves. Appliques of Alencon lace were scattered down the straight front of the dome shaped skirt which boasted a full carriage back ending in a chapel train.

A queen's crown of pearls and sequins held her elbow-length veil of silk illusion, and she carried a cascade arrangement of white poinsettias, white rose buds, holly and gold Christmas ornaments.

Miss Bonita Waithman served her sister as maid of honor and wore a pine green velvet street-length gown with three-quarter sleeves and round neck. The skirt was fashioned with a straight front and pleats at the sides and back.

Bridesmaid was Miss Kathy Brooks, sister of the bridegroom, and she wore a dress of red velvet made like that of the maid of honor. Both attendants carried bouquets of red poinsettias.

The bridegroom chose his stepfather to serve as his best man, and ushering were Kenneth Dushman and Robert John, cousins of the bride.

Mrs. Waithman wore a gold brocade jacketed dress and Mrs. Brooks a blue sheath dress. Both mothers had corsages of white carnations and holly.

A reception in the church social rooms followed the ceremony. Mrs. William Taylor, sister of the bride, registered the 165 guests.

A three tier holly-trimmed white cake topped with a nosegay of white pompons graced the bride's table which was decorated with holly and nosegays tied with red velvet ribbon and the bouquets of the attendants.

A centerpiece of pine, holly, and white pompons arranged on a tiered pedestal flanked by trindle silver candelabra, decorated the white flocked nylon covered buffet table.

Out of state guests were from Massachusetts, Pennsylvania, North Carolina and Illinois.

Following a honeymoon at Lynn, Mass., and Niagara Falls the couple will reside at RD 2, Leetonia.

A graduate of Salem High School and Kent State University, the bride is teacher of commercial subjects at Crestview High School.

Mr. Horgan is a graduate of Lynn English High School and Milligan College of Tennessee. He is also employed as teacher by the Crestview High School.

Book Club's Holiday Event Is Enjoyed

Mrs. Gertrude Stewart and Mrs. James Cross presided at the tea service when members of the Salem Book Club held their annual Christmas dessert luncheon meeting recently in the Ruth Smucker House.

Piano selections were presented by Mrs. Ralph Firestone, "Etude in E. Major" (Chopin), and "December" (Trachackowsky).

Mrs. Cross gave the television and radio report of programs for the Christmas season.

"The Madonna," a tableau with living portraits, was presented with Mrs. Frank Stoerkel as narrator. Mrs. Bill Stoerkel and son John represented "Madonna and Child;" Mrs. J. R. Taylor the "Blue Madonna;" Mrs. William Longworth the "Madonna Adoring Child;" and Mrs. Glenn Bates, the "Sistine Madonna." Mrs. Fred Schramm played background music and Marilyn Schramm sang "Ave Maria," and "He Came as a Babe from Heaven."

Mrs. Stoerkel, Mrs. Longworth and Mrs. Bates comprised the program committee. Members of the hospitality committee were Mrs. Ralph Long Sr., chairman, Mrs. R. R. Woods, Mrs. G. W. Smith, Mrs. J. R. Taylor and Mrs. F. N. Orr.

The next meeting of the club will be Jan. 7 at the Smucker House.

A graduate of Salem High School, Miss Oswald is employed as a secretary at the Bellows-Valvair.

Mr. Burchfield is also a graduate of Salem High School and is attending Ohio State University.

The next benefit is planned Jan. 4.

THE NITE OWL CLUB after meeting at the Chit-Chat Inn in New Garden for dinner, went to the home of Mrs. Dorothy Delp for a social hour. Mrs. Evelyn Bernet conducted the business session at which election of officers was held. Mrs. Margaret Delp was named president; Mrs. Gerry McPherson, vice president; and Mrs. Dorothy Delp, secretary and treasurer.

Mrs. Helen Burnham and Mrs. Camille Kelton were appointed for publicity. A special prize was awarded to Mrs. Mary Carl. Mrs.

Kelton was given recognition in honor of her birthday.

A gift exchange was held, prior to the showing of slides of the activities of the club, during the past year by Mrs. Bertha Burnham. Lunch was served by Mrs. Delp. Mrs. Kelton will receive her associates in her home Jan. 17. Mrs. Helen Lindesmith has returned home, following surgery at the Salem Clinic hospital.

The nickname of the American frigate Constitution, "Old Ironsides," came from a gunner who saw solid shot bouncing off her oaken sides during a battle with the British "Guerriere" in the War of 1812.

Nearly One-Half of State's Income Used for Education

By ART PARKS

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Every one seems to agree that the post-war science revolution means that today's young people must be far better educated than the generation now running the world.

The only question seems to be: How can this stick-in-the-mud generation pay the bill for the way-out schooling needed to train the technicians as well as the Ph.D.s?

The answer to that question is only one or many problems which must be solved, at least in part, by the incoming 105th General Assembly. Education is only one of the problems, but it is probably the best one to illustrate them all because education already is taking exactly one-half of the state treasury's general fund income every year.

Add education costs with public welfare spending, which takes 22 per cent of the state's income, and mental health and correction costs which come to 16 per cent of the state income, and you come to the inescapable conclusion that the three programs alone take 88 per cent of the state's non-highway dollars.

Statistics involving hundreds of millions of dollars don't mean much to most of us, but, for the record, education costs Ohio taxpayers nearly $1.7 billion in the last two years, exclusive of the cost of operating municipal universities.

Local taxes for schools amounted to about $1.08 billion and state taxes for public schools and support of state universities were a shade under $600 million in that period.

In the two-year period which will end next June 30, the state share of the cost of operating the public schools was a little more than $465.5 million. In the next two years, enrollment increases alone will boost that figure to about $503 million. The law provides for that increase.

That is not the final word on soaring school costs, by any means.

The State Board of Education has gone on record in favor of still another $89 million in the next two years. Most of the extra-money sought by the board would cover the cost of reducing the size of the average high school class from 30 to 27 pupils.

The Ohio Education Association, an organization of teachers and school administrators, is asking for still another $55 million—$20 million for increases in teachers' minimum salaries and another $35 million for construction and rehabilitation of school buildings in distressed districts.

These increases, should the legislature and Gov.-elect James A. Rhodes approve them, would bring the state's public school contribution up to $650 million in the next two years, a jump of nearly 40 per cent.

Still another suggestion which came from Gov.-elect Rhodes during his successful campaign pushes the school financing problem to the verge of the fantastic. He suggested that the legislature might well consider the possibility of increasing the state's share of public education financing from the present 31 per cent to 50 per cent.

Arithmetic shows that proposal, if adopted by the legislature, would require another $311 million in new or increased state taxes in the next two years—almost exactly the amount of the 1959 tax program which Democratic Gov. Michael V. DiSalle pushed through the legislature and which, most observers believe, contributed to his defeat in his re-election bid.

If the 50-50 sharing of school costs between the state and local school districts should become a reality and, additionally, the other requests for school financing should be adopted, the state's share of public school costs would skyrocket by nearly $500 million in the next two years—more than double the present figure.

But wait, that is not all. What about the universities?

In the two-year period which ends next June 30, it cost just over $92.5 million in taxpayers' dollars to operate them. And they weren't able to get a dime out of the 1961 legislature for new classrooms or laboratories.

The state-owned institutions of higher learning—Ohio State University, Kent State University, Ohio University, Bowling Green State University, Miami University and Central State College—have not yet completed their budget requests. But, with the post-war baby crop just about ready to reach their campuses, their requests are certain to soar.

William Coulter, secretary of the Inter-University Council, expects the total of requests for operating funds from tax dollars to increase from $92.5 million by at least $30 million.

That doesn't include the yet-untold millions needed to build the college classrooms which will be required in the next few years. Whatever way they slice it, public school and university officials probably will be able to make a pretty good case for $12 billion in state money in the next two years against the present $600 million.

They aren't going to get it, of course.

But the problem these requests will represent when they reach the legislature is a very pressing one.

Riffle Plumbing & Heating

Good evening, friends. D.D. is here to complete your evening! Aren't you the lucky one?

Speaking of luck, I know a ball club that certainly could use a little. Salem's limping Quakers canned a fabulous 18.5 per cent in the first half of the Massillon tilt. Isn't that a little dandy! As you are painfully aware, the Tigers showed their claws (as well as their backs) to Salem's Finest last Friday. Seems they were up for us... so who plays basketball laying down? Or should I say, who else plays basketball laying down? This season is starting to look longer and longer, and the schedule tougher and tougher.

Friday's spectacular (?) brings Akron North's Vikings to our fair city in search of revenge of last year's 93 to 66 loss at the hot little hands of the Quakers.

Coach Bib White, in his 19th year at the head of the Viking crew, is definitely out to give us the bird (that's a pun, son) for sure! Three of the starting five played with last year's North squad which means they don't lack experience... and they certainly don't lack size... have 2 boys who stand over 6 feet 5 inches available for services when needed.

These factors, height plus experience, add speed, equals big troubles for John Cabas tomorrow night. (As if he hasn't had enough already.) Salem is really going to have to turn on the steam if they want to chill the Vikings. (How to chill things with steam confuses me). Come on Quakers, puleeze play ball!

Other little bits of wisdom from the wise one... East Liverpool is having problems too... it seems that 3 of their first four losses came during overtimes... how's that for luck?

Steubenville Big Red has a good thing going for them in the run (who's running?) for the Big 8 title... They play every one of the Big 8 with the exception of Salem and Canton McKinley... And each and every one of those games will be played on their home floor. Pretty nice, huh?

That's all for now, friends...

May the First find you fit. And a Happy New Year to you, too, Mrs. Fisher.

Salem Defeats John Adams With Tough Press 78-50

Quakers (2-2) Eye Akron North Next

By MARK W. MILLER
News Sports Editor

They (Salem) baffled them (Cleveland John Adams) with a press.

That's exactly what happened as the Quakers turned tiger Wednesday night and completely outclassed the Rebels 78-50 before an overflow crowd at Senior High School.

So improved was Salem that fans were saying as they left the gym "Those boys are going to be all right; they certainly looked sharp tonight."

With the fray now history, Salem Coach John Cabas called a drill for this morning to prepare his squad for Akron North.

THE QUAKERS will entertain the Vikings Friday night and try to end the year on the winning side of the ledger. At the present time the Red and Black are 2-2.

Cleveland John Adams' starting lineup included 6-6, 6-4 and 6-2 players.

The Quakers employed the press so effectively that John Adams was forced into making numerous mistakes throughout the tilt.

On the other hand, Salem threw the ball away only three times, and only twice while the varsity was performing.

VETERAN BILL Beery may have set some kind of an individual record for Salem. He made nine straight field goals and two foul shots in the third and fourth periods. The 6-1 senior also grabbed a dozen rebounds.

Salem's Rick Platt gave the Quakers an early scoring punch as he made half of his team's 16 points in the initial period. In the third session, the 5-9 senior made four straight buckets.

The Red and Black held John Adams to six baskets during the first half, while taking 16-6 and 29-14 quarter leads. Salem held a 59-36 margin at the end of the third stanza.

Coach Cabas said, "They (John Adams) aren't as bad as they looked; we made them look bad with our aggressive tactics."

THE SALEM MENTOR was pleased with his team's performance, but was quick to point out that he thought Akron North would be a lot tougher opponent. Against John Adams, Salem canned 33 of 65 field goal attempts for 51.7 per cent. The Quakers were tremendous foul shooters, with 12 of their 14 free throws marked up on the score board.

The taller quintet from John Adams hit on 36 per cent of their shots from the field, and 60-8 from the charity circle.

Beery led all of the participating players on both sides with 25 points, 20 coming in the second half. Platt hit nine of 13 field goal attempts and finished with 18 markers for the Red and Black.

ELROY PERKINS led John Adams with 16 points. Donnie Jacobs chipped in with 10.

Akron North has an excellent shooting record. The Vikings have posted a 3-1 record so far this season, losing only to a veteran Cuyahoga Falls team 70-58.

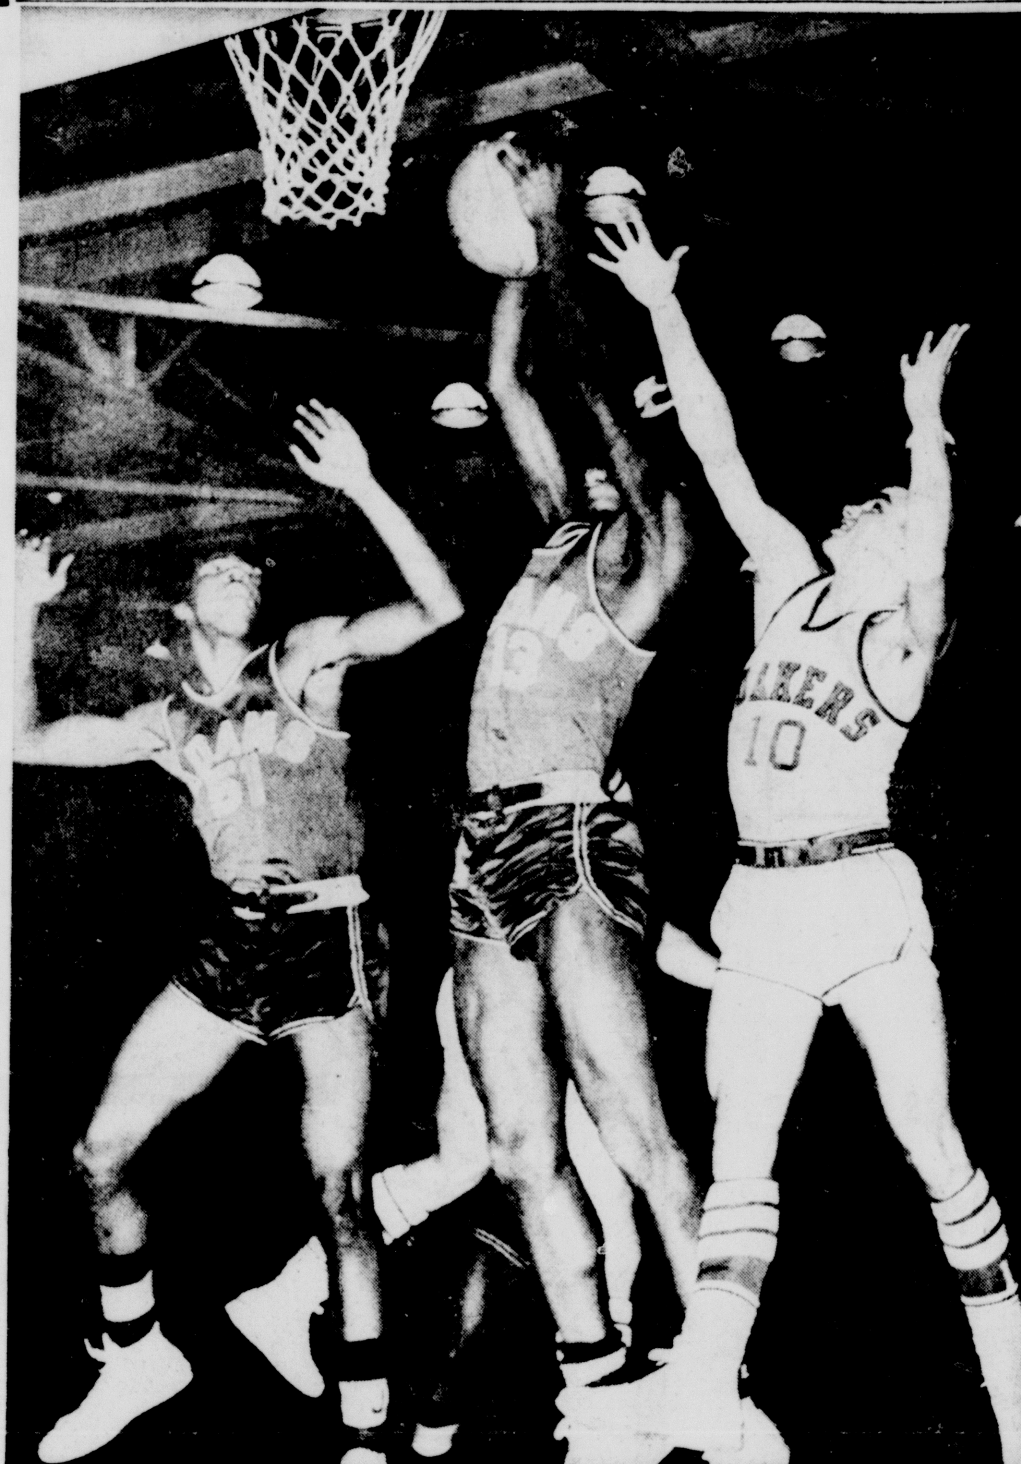

The Vikings have beaten Akron Central, Canton Timken, by 18 points; and Akron Ellet. Salem whipped the Trojans 79-65.

The probable starting lineup for Akron North will have James Stock, 6-5½ sophomore at center; Harvey Lucas, 5-10½ senior, and junior Ronnie Collins, 6-1, at the forward posts; and juniors Dave Padgett, 5-9½ and Don White, 6-1 at guards.

WHITE, WHO IS son of Akron North Coach Robert White, is an excellent shot from any place on the floor. He has scored in double figures during the first four contests.

Another double figure shooter on the Vikings' team is Collins. He is the number two point producer for Akron North.

Akron North uses a zone defense. They won't display much finesse or set up many offensive play patterns, but the Vikings have speed and can wreck an opponent with their shooting.

I'LL TAKE THAT BALL — Elroy Perkins, who led Cleveland John Adams with 16 points, comes off the backboard with one of 10 rebounds he grabbed during the clash with Salem last night. The Quakers whipped the Rebels 78-50 for their second win in four starts. Rick Platt, 5-9, (10) leaps high into the air in an effort to reach the basketball, while Dave Smith, 6-4, John Adams athlete, watches the action.

Lisbon, Greenford, Columbiana Face Important Games on Friday

By LYNN BROWNE
Now that Christmas is over and ol' Tom Turkey is, with the exception of sandwiches, a thing of the past, area basketball squads return to their normal routines of practices and games.

Only nine tilts involving area squads are slated for this weekend, (all on Friday) for the lightest schedule since the season opened.

Highlighting the card will be the Lisbon-Wellsville clash which finds the county-seaters invading with an unscathed 4-0 record to battle the Bengals, holders of a respectable 2-1 mark.

The tilt was originally slated for Dec. 7 but was postponed because of inclement weather.

Coach Gary Pike will send his Blue Devils into the game fresh from a 53-39 victory over United Local under their belts, while the Bengals also enter the fray on a winning note, having nipped East Liverpool 57-53 in a pre-Christmas contest.

Lisbon's other victories were over West Branch 44-43 in overtime, Minerva 59-37 and Carrollton 49-47. Wellsville trimmed Beaver Local 76-43 for an inaugural win and then bowed to Midland 45-36.

In another top contest Friday Coach Rich Berryman will pit his Clippers and a three-game win streak against the Cardinals of Canfield, who currently sport a 4-2 mark.

The Clips were nudged by Springfield Local in the season opener but have bounced back with wins over North Lima, Louisville and Beaver Local. Canfield won their first three tilts, downing East Palestine, North Lima and Poland, then dropped a game to Liberty and beat Austintown Fitch before losing to Youngstown Chaney.

In other make-up games, Sebring's Trojans will invade Greenford to do battle with Coach Jerry Suess' Bobcats and the Zippers of North Lima will be at Leetonia.

Greenford vs. Sebring

Greenford, pointing towards one of its best seasons in years, holds a 4-1 season record with a loss to West Branch as the only blemish while Sebring's lone victory in four contests was over the Golden Eagles of United.

Leetonia with a mediocre 1-2 mark should have little trouble notching victory number two when they take on the winless Zippers.

Also on Friday, United Local with a 1-5 record will travel to Beaver Local, holder of a 1-3 record; Springfield Local will be at Mohawk, Pa. West Branch will be at Louisville; Carrollton will be at Minerva; and the Salem Quakers will entertain Akron North.

Mark My Word

By MARK W. MILLER

In its first three games this season, Salem has hit on 43 per cent of its shots, canning 71 of 165 field goal attempts. The Quakers have an excellent mark at the foul line, sinking 48 of 62 gift throws for 77.4 per cent.

Individually, senior Marlin Waller has made 13 of 23 attempts from the field for 56.5 per cent, and 10 of 16 from the free-throw line for 62.5.

Veteran Bill Beery is the most consistent cager. The 6-1 senior has made 19 of 51 from the field for 37.2, and 68 per cent of his foul shots, making 17 of 25 charity tosses.

Senior Rick Sweitzer has tallied four of five from the foul line, while Bob King has hit for 14 of 31 field goals.

Columbus East, Canton Timken and Massillon connected on 39.4 of their shots, making 83 of 208 attempts. The three schools also hit on 51.1 per cent of their free throws, tossing in 44 of 86 foul shots.

The Quakers lost their opener to Columbus East 75-49, then beat Timken, 79-65, before dropping their initial Ohio Big 8 conference clash of the season to Massillon 70-62.

BILL DICK SCORED a 608 series to take top honors in the boys division in the annual Junior Bowling Christmas Tournament held at Saxon Lanes recently.

Sherry Stewart rolled a 572 series to take the top spot in the girls bracket.

Other boys who scored well included Mark Scott 600, Dan Hendricks 590 and Joe Skrivaneck 555. Sondra Smith had a 566 to finish second in the girls event. She was followed by Diane Tetlow, 545 and Bette J. Morrow 540.

The tournament was sponsored by Gordon Scott, and trophies were awarded to the winners.

THE CLEVELAND Browns set four team records, including two in passing in the 1962 season just concluded.

Both aerial marks of 200 completions and 133 first downs passing were particularly surprising considering that the Browns were forced to switch quarterbacks midway through the season. Frank Ryan took over in the seventh game after Jim Ninowski suffered a fractured collarbone and a dislocated shoulder. The previous records were 191 completions and 122 first downs, both in 1953.

The other season records hung up by Cleveland in its 7-6-1 campaign were 252 total first downs and 45 punts, fewest kicks in the club's history.

The first down total was six more than a year ago, and the punts required of rookie Gary Collins were five fewer than the previous low of 50 three years ago.

Fullback Jim Brown matched his 18 touchdowns of last year. He and Lou Groza added to a number of individual career records they own with Cleveland.

Brown's marks include 1,499 carries for 7,459 yards and 81 touchdowns, while Groza now has 1,161 points on 191 field goals and 565 extra points since turning pro in 1946.

Salem Reserves Lose 3rd 40-36

Salem's reserves rallied in the second half, but were not able to catch up as they dropped a 40-36 decision to Cleveland John Adams at Senior High School Wednesday night.

Coach Karl Zellers' aggregation was handed its third loss in a row.

John Adams took an 11-5 lead in the initial period, held a 22-16 margin at intermission and a 28-25 lead at the end of the third canto.

Both teams made 16 field goals, but the Rebels canned eight foul shots, compared to four for the Quakers.

George Begalla, who saw action for Salem in the varsity contest, led the junior varsity squad with seven points.

Simpson took scoring honors for John Adams with 11 markers. Zeigler collected 10.

Aussies Waltz To Another Cup

Dump Mexicans In Doubles For Title

By WILL GRIMSLEY
Associated Press Sports Writer
BRISBANE, Australia (AP)—Fiery Rod Laver and steady Roy Emerson crushed Mexico's Rafael Osuna and Antonio Palafox in 70 minutes of slashing doubles today, 7-5, 6-2, -64 and clinched for Australia its 11th Davis Cup victory in the last 13 years.

The triumph also brought this tennis minded continent at the bottom of the world even with the United States in cup victories since the big international tennis competition was launched in 1900. Each now has won 18 times.

A surprisingly easy straight-set sweep by the Australians following the opening singles conquests Wednesday gave the team a 3-0 lead in the best-of-five match series and turned Friday's final matches into a mere formality.

In those, Osuna is scheduled to face veteran Neale Fraser and Palafox is to play Laver, the grand slam champion of amateur tennis, who Saturday is expected to announce acceptance of a $110,000 professional contract.

Palafox, who played spectacular tennis against Fraser, obviously suffered a letdown from the first day tension. His racket, blast-hot Wednesday, was just a cold slab of hickory and caught.

While Osuna fought hard and played brilliantly at times, Palafox never once recovered his marvelous touch. He couldn't return service with any consistency.

The doubles match was played before a meager crowd of 6,500 in blazing sunshine, in contrast the opening day, when the singles were staged on a damp court under laden skies and with two interruptions by rain.

The Australians took charge immediately, with Laver and Emerson lashing across their services with such power that it was the eighth game before the Mexicans could get a point on their delivery.

The Aussies had won 13 straight points on service before Osuna punched across a point off Emerson in the eighth game. The cup holders got down 15-40 but pulled out the game. It was the closest they came to dropping a service in the entire match.

The Australians pulled out the game when Palafox hit two loose shots, one a wild, swinging over-head on a ball obviously going out.

In the 11th game Laver lashed a volley between Osuna and Palafox for advantage and on the next point, sent a backhand shot zipping down the line. The ball appeared to be a couple of inches out. The linesman called it good and the Australians had their first service break.

Packers Blanked NY 37-0 Last Year

Giants Plan Balanced Attack For NFL Title Clash Sunday

By JACK HAND

Associated Press Sports Writer

BEAR MOUNTAIN, N.Y. (AP)—

When Allie Sherman says he hopes to have a balanced attack in Sunday's National Football League title game with Green Bay, that means the New York Giants hope to give Y.A. Tittle an assist by running against the Packers.

Run against the Packers? Impossible, you say? Well, the Los Angeles Rams ran against them for 207 yards in the last game of the season. Detroit moved 153 yards on the ground against the Packers Thanksgiving Day and they rushed for only 91 yards against the Giants earlier.

Sherman is the cautious type. He wouldn't admit his club still bore the mental bruises of its 1961 title game with the Packers if that 37-0 score wasn't hanging up for all to read.

"We know what we want to do Sunday," he said Wednesday after the club's workout in the spacious Army field house at neighboring West Point. "We'll find out in the game what we can do."

The Giants are walking on eggs, trying to avoid any quote that would give ammunition to Vince Lombardi to fire up his Packers at their sub-zero practice field.

"We assume they will be tougher," said Sherman, of the Packers.

Alex Webster, Giant fullback, echoed the same thought when he said, "They still are the same ball club. They should be better, playing together another year."

The Giants are not the same ball club that met the Packers last year. For instance, two of the four backs are different. A year ago it was Joel Wells, now retired, teamed up with Webster at running back and Kyle Rote, now backfield coach, at flanker back. Phil King, hobbled by injuries since he was drafted No. 1 by the Giants out of Vanderbilt in 1958, has taken over the left half of running back job next to Webster.

King has carried the ball 108 times for 460 yards, second among the Giants to Webster's total of 743 yards on 207 carries and better than any Packer except Jim Taylor.

Passing remains the key of the Giants' attack, of course, but Tittle broke the league record with 33 touchdown passes and connected with 200 of 375 for 3,224 yards.

Cousy Named To All-Stars Once Again

NEW YORK (AP)—Bob Cousy, the Boston Celtics' all-time great playmaker who is winding up his career this season, was picked for the National Basketball Association's All-Star game for the 13th time in as many years.

Selection of Cousy and seven other players for the East in the 13th annual All-Star game at Los Angeles Jan. 16, was announced today by BA President Maurice Podoloff.

Eight players for the West were named Wednesday. The eight for each side were picked by basketball writers in the NBA cities.

NBA coaches will select the other three men for each team. Red Auerbach, coach of the champion Celtics, will handle the East and Fred Schaus of the Los Angeles Lakers will coach the West. The East leads 7-5.

The teams: East—Forwards, Tom Heinsohn, Boston, Jack Twyman, Cincinnati, and Lee Shaffer, Syracuse; centers, Bill Russell, Boston and John Kerr, Syracuse; guards, Oscar Robertson, Cincinnati, Bob Cousy, Boston, and Richie Guerin, New York.

West—Forwards, Elgin Baylor, Los Angeles, Bob Pettit, St. Louis, and Bailey Howell, Detroit; centers, Wilt Chamberlain, San Francisco, and Walt Bellamy, Chicago; guards, Jerry West, Los Angeles, Guy Rodgers, San Francisco, and Don Ohl, Detroit.

ANGELS RETAIN FIRST 12
LOS ANGELES (AP)—Only 12 men on the current roster of the Los Angeles Angels were selected in the original expansion draft two years ago.

They are pitchers Dean Chance, Eli Grba, Ken McBride, Ron Moeller, Tom Morgan and Fred Newman; catchers are Averill Bob Rodgers and Ed Sadowski, infielders Jim Fregosi and Gene Leek and outfielder Ken Hunt.

Camilo Pascual and Jim Kat of the Twins and Dick Donovan of the Indians turned in five shut-outs each last season.

TED KENNEDY SCORES AGAIN — Sen.-elect Edward M. Kennedy of Massachusetts shoots out of the Camp Crozier Peace Corps pool in Puerto Rico and scores in a game of water basketball. Kennedy, on his last vacation day in the Caribbean visited two island Peace Corps training sites and joined a group of Africa-bound volunteers in the midday water sports activity. The senator and his wife, Joan, left Puerto Rico for Miami late Dec. 19.

USC, BG, Stanford Lose In Classics

Stunning Upsets Spice Cage Events

By MIKE RATHET

Associated Press Sports Writer

This is the season to be jolly, but it's all a folly to Southern California, Stanford and Bowling Green, who discovered rather quickly that the moment you set out on the court in one of the nation's holiday basketball tournaments the Yuletide spirit goes up the chimney.

The seventh-ranked Trojans, ninth-ranked Indians and highly touted Falcons still were trying to wipe the soot from their once-spotless records today following their first defeat in the three major upsets of Wednesday's opening action in the annual tournament warfare.

Game Streak Is Snapped

Southern Cal, which had won all nine of its games, was unceremoniously dumped from the unbeaten ranks by Colorado State U., 72-54 while Stanford, winner of seven, dropped a 62-61 decision to Northwestern on Ken Lutgens' tip-in with 4 seconds to go. Both upsets came in the first round of the Los Angeles Classic.

Bowling Green, 4-0 and the tourney favorite, lost to St. Joseph's, Pa., 58-57 on a last second shot by Jim Boyle in the Quaker City Classic at Philadelphia.

19 Trophies To Winners

In all, eight major tournaments opened as the holiday program began to build toward a Saturday park that will see 19 coveted crowns up for grabs. With the three exceptions it was a form-filled evening.

Here's a capsule rundown of the other results:

Los Angeles Classic—St. Louis walloped Washington 64-39 and UCLA belted Utah 89-75. In tonight's semifinals it'll be Northwestern vs. Colorado State and St. Louis vs. UCLA.

Quaker City—BYU defeated LaSalle 84-73, Villanova knocked off Manhattan 72-54 and Providence drubbed Delaware 70-57. Friday's semifinal pairings are Providence-BYU and Villanova-St. Joseph's.

Illinois Rips Penn 98-86

Holiday Festival at New York—Fourth-ranked and undefeated Illinois handed Penn its first loss 98-66. West Virginia squeezed by Boston College 65-64 in overtime, NYU beat Duquesne 71-66 and St. Bonaventure bopped Holy Cross 82-68. The semifinals Friday will be Illinois-NYU and West Virginia-St. Bonaventure.

Big Eight at Kansas City—Kansas stopped Colorado 70-64 and Iowa State topped Nebraska 82-68. All-College at Oklahoma City—

Wyoming downed Creighton 80-74 and Oklahoma City thumped Baylor 76-60.

Iowa Nips Arizona 57-56

Far West at Portland, Ore.—Iowa nipped Arizona 57-56 and Oregon overcame Washington State 67-57.

West Coast at San Francisco—San Jose defeated Pepperdine 64-54 and Santa Clara crushed University of Pacific 80-63.

Gulf South at Shreveport, La.—Centenary beat George Washington 86-78 and Louisiana Tech took West Texas 81-77.

The Big Eight, All-College, Far West, West Coast and Gulf South wind up the first round of their tournaments with doubleheaders tonight.

Kennedy Was Top News Maker During Year

NEWSMAKER OF THE YEAR

JOHN F. KENNEDY

EDITOR'S NOTE

The Newsmaker of the Year selections are made in strict accordance with ballots returned by news editors of Associated Press member newspapers and radio and TV stations. News editors are asked annually to vote for the top news personalities of the year. The selection does not necessarily indicate support of policies or actions of the persons chosen. They merely identify the individuals who made the top news of 1962 in their respective fields.

By MARY CAMPBELL
AP News Features Writer

President John F. Kennedy is Newsmaker of the Year for the third straight year, as selected by news editors of Associated Press member newspaper and radio and TV stations.

The President made the most news in 1962 on two occasions he got tough—with Russia and with the steel industry.

FACED WITH evidence that Russia was building and equipping bases in Cuba which could handle nuclear missiles, Kennedy's reaction was: get them out or else.

In a grave TV talk to the nation Oct. 22, Kennedy outlined a seven-point program for fast military and diplomatic action to stop the Cuban buildup.

He also said, "Should these offensive military preparations continue, thus increasing the threat to the hemisphere, further action will be justified. I have directed the armed forces to prepare for any eventualities."

Russia backed down. With steel, the President used his powers of persuasion to bring about a new contract which would hold down the inflationary spiral. The contract called for no pay increase, was reached without a strike.

But when the major steel companies raised prices only a few days later, Kennedy went beyond persuasion. Atty. Gen. Robert Kennedy threatened antitrust suits and a grand jury investigation of price fixing.

Big steel backed down.

Kennedy's trade expansion bill got through Congress, with changes; his proposed Department of Urban Affairs and Housing and medical care for the aged under Social Security did not.

Premier Fidel Castro of Cuba, over whose island America and Russia had the year's biggest Cold War showdown, was the editors' choice as newsmaker of the year in foreign affairs.

The bearded Communist, no rose without thorns even for the Russians, kept Soviet Deputy Premier Anastas Mikoyan in Cuba 24 days, interpreting the Russian withdrawal of missile bases.

Castro sent U.N. Secretary General U Thant and his inspection team out of Cuba after two fruitless days; kept up a program of fermenting turmoil through Latin America. As for the U.S., Castro demanded the evacuation of the Naval base at Guantanamo, called the quarantine act of a pirate, readied his troops for an armed American attack and upped the price for release of the Bay of Pigs invasion prisoners.

OTHER WINNERS in the AP poll were: science, Dr. Frances Kelsey; business, Billie Sol Estes; labor, Arthur Goldberg; religion, Pope John XXIII; sports, Sonny Liston; entertainment, Marilyn Monroe; literature, John Steinbeck; woman newsmaker, Jacqueline Kennedy.

Dr. Frances Kelsey, medical officer in the Food and Drug Administration, refused a U.S. license for the sleep-inducing drug thalidomide, insisting there was insufficient proof of its safety. After thalidomide taken early in pregnancy was found to have caused thousands of babies to be born deformed, Dr. Kelsey was given a gold medal for distinguished civilian government service.

Billie Sol Estes, who once said "to be successful you have to walk out on a limb... if it breaks, you learn how far to go next time," felt the limb break in 1962 under his vast financial empire. Estes' questionable dealings in government grain storage and acreage allotments became the subject of myriad investigations.

Secretary of Labor Arthur Goldberg in February said government should increasingly provide guidelines to assure that union-management negotiations are in the public interest. The ever-busy Goldberg worked closely with Kennedy in the steel situation, was in Chicago trying to head off a threatened strike by railway telegraphers on the day President Kennedy appointed him to the Supreme Court.

POPE JOHN XXIII convened the 21st Ecumenical Council, first since 1870, at the Vatican on Oct. 11, its goal being internal church renewal. Also in '62, he instituted the first change in the heart of the Mass in 1,300 years, made the first train trip by a Pope in 100 years, raised the College of Cardinals to an all-time high of 87. A few days after his 81st birthday Nov. 25, he was taken ill with a gastric disorder.

Sonny Liston became heavyweight champion of the world in two minutes and six seconds Sept. 25, in a Chicago match with two-time champion Floyd Patterson. The first-round knockout was the earliest in which the heavyweight title ever changed hands. Blonde, shapely Marilyn Monroe, movie star symbol of sex, was found dead in her bed Aug. 5, her hand holding a lifted telephone receiver, an empty bottle of sleeping pills nearby. The coroner's report ruled it death by sedative drugs, "probable suicide," and noted she had had severe fears and frequent depressions.

John Steinbeck received the Nobel Prize for Literature in 1962, the sixth American to be so honored. Dr. Anders Osterling of the prize committee termed Steinbeck's 1961 novel, "The Winter of Our Discontent," in "the towering standard" of his best-known novel from the depression, "The Grapes of Wrath."

JACQUELINE KENNEDY has been chosen woman newsmaker for the second straight year. She showed how she's been redecorating her home on TV's hour-long "A Tour of the White House with Mrs. John F. Kennedy," spent an August vacation on Italy's Amalfi coast. And, ever interested in culture, she unveiled an architect's model of the capital's National Cultural Center and attended opening night at New York's new Philharmonic Hall.

GOOD, BAD AND INDIFFERENT — As far as purchasing power goes, the average American worker is better off in some cases than he was in 1957, a little worse in others and about the same in still others. Chart above shows the number of minutes or hours that must be worked to earn the money to buy certain items and the increase or decrease in time, if any, since 1957.

Figures are from the Bureau of Labor Statistics and National Industrial Conference Board and are based on average hourly earnings of production workers in manufacturing. Chart does not take into account the relative importance of the different items or changes in the quality of goods since 1957.

Crop Production In 1962 Near Record High

Scandal, Strikes Marred Farm Scene

By OVID A. MARTIN
WASHINGTON (AP)—The nation's agriculture hit the headlines this year with scandals, farm strikes, battles over farm legislation and government efforts to whittle down costly crop and dairy surpluses.
The scandals revolved around Billie Sol Estes, West Texas financier convicted by a Texas court of alleged fraud, and his relations with the Agriculture Department under its big cotton production and grain storage programs. These relations touched off congressional investigations.
The farm strikes centered around efforts of the National Farmers Organization, a relatively new farm group centered largely in the Midwest, to have processors and buyers pay higher prices for meat animals and grains.
The battles over farm legislation were waged in Congress and indirectly, in congressional elections. The Kennedy administration sought to get new legislation authorizing tighter production controls on such big surpluses as wheat, feed grains and dairy products.
Government efforts to reduce these surpluses involved stepped up contributions to the needy at home and abroad, and offers of payments to farmers for reducing plantings of grains.

In term of income, 1962 matched 1961 with farm operators getting an estimated $12.8 billion after paying production costs. This was the largest net income since 1953 when it totaled $13.8 billion. Little change from 1962 was forecast for 1963. However, the average income per capita for the farm population averaged a little higher in 1962 than in 1961, reflecting a further decrease in the number of farms and in the farm population.
The Billie Sol Estes affair occupied much of the attention of the government—and of the public—during the spring and summer. Estes got into trouble with the Agriculture Department with a plan to obtain large cotton planting allotments under a control program.
During the course of the affair, two top-ranking department officials were fired and a third resigned. Testimony had been offered linking them with gifts from Estes.
The NFO farm strike had a temporary effect of holding down marketings of livestock and a temporary increase in prices in some markets. But farm leaders generally agreed that it had no lasting effect on the market situation. They said such a strike has little chance of success unless the great bulk of farmers join in, which they did not do.

The legislative battles centered on administration proposals to set up tight production controls on feed grains and dairy products and to tighten controls on wheat. Although Democrats controlled both houses of Congress, they were able to get approval on a new wheat program only. Some Democrats joined Republicans to defeat plans for feed grain and dairy controls.
Nevertheless, the administration achieved a degree of success in reducing grain surpluses under voluntary programs. These programs offered growers payments and price supports for taking grain land out of production. These payments totaled about $1.2 billion this year compared with $800 million last year.
A decline in cotton exports tossed this crop into new surplus difficulties. The administration, which had promised to offer a new cotton program at the next session of Congress, blamed the dual-price system of the present government program for cotton difficulties. It said this system put cotton at a disadvantage with foreign cotton and with man-made fibers.
The Kennedy administration made progress in its efforts to help rural America develop non-agricultural opportunities. Congress passed legislation authorizing the Agriculture Department to make loans and grants to help farmers shift crop land to other uses such as recreation, wildlife, trees and grasses.
Too, the department was authorized to help local groups get new industries to provide jobs for persons no longer needed in farm production.
Crop production this year came within about 2 per cent of the record high set in 1960. Except for voluntary retirement of grain land under the payment program, production would have set a new record. Farm exports set a record high, aided in large measure by government food-for-peace and other easy payment and export subsidy payments.
Farm prices for the year as a whole averaged about 2 per cent above last year. But the value of farm marketings was below last year.

Seagoing Aerie for Navy's Whirlybirds

USS IWO JIMA is the first of the Navy's new all-helicopter carriers. A second was recently commissioned and two more are under construction

WHIRLYBIRD'S NEST — The Navy has placed in service a new type of aircraft carrier designed expressly as a takeoff and landing platform for helicopters.

In recent exercises conducted in the Pacific off Oceanside, Calif., combat-equipped leathernecks of the First Marine Regiment whirled up from the deck of the USS Iwo Jima, the Navy's first LPH-class (landing platform, helicopter) carrier.
Helicopters and the carriers have given rise to a new concept in amphibious warfare — vertical envelopment — in which Marines are flown by helicopters to strategic points behind enemy lines.

HR2S-1 CARGO HELICOPTER takes on a vehicle prior to take-off from deck of Iwo Jima, the Navy's new all-copter carrier.

Questions—Answers

Q—Have any U.S. governors ever been imprisoned?
A—After the Civil War, three Confederate governors were arrested and confined as "prisoners of state."
Q—How smart is a porpoise?
A—They are far more intelligent than fish and more so than many kinds of mammals. Their intelligence is higher than a dog's and possibly equal to a chimpanzee's.

A word from THERON at the Country Store

A family from Salem requested I put a map in my ad showing the location of the Country Store. They got lost on their way down.

Just come east on State Street, Route 14 through you know where but be careful, when you get to State Route 164 turn right and keep on 164 through Columbiana turning right at the Square, you will go through the underpass. Our market is about a mile S.W. of Columbiana on the right on 164, the Lisbon Road.

BACK TO THE BANK. Detroit patrolman Allen Harts, left, counts the life savings of Andy Bari, second from left, while detective Angus Gatherum and Detective Inspector William Ellenberg, right, watch in Detroit. Tipped by a bank when Bari, 68, withdrew $30,000, police called on Bari at his home and were shown his life savings. Bari said he was afraid the Russians would invade the United States and he would lose his money. Convinced the Russians had no plans, Bari watched as the money was counted at police headquarters and returned to the bank.

call this evening. Rev. Paul T. Gerrard of the First Presbyterian Church will officiate.

Burial will be in Lisbon Cemetery.

Relatives

Shortly after the departure, four children came down with measles, three in a single family. The two families were isolated. Dr. Banning Lary of Miami said there was little cause for concern and no reason for a quarantine of the ship.

Moving into international waters, the African Pilot picked up an escort of three U.S. Coast Guard vessels.

The freighter was designed to carry only 12 passengers and her life-saving equipment was inadequate.

There were only 500 cots set up in shelter deck areas but there were blankets for all, flown to Havana from the United States. Each person was given a box lunch including fried chicken, a ripe tomato, bread, butter and milk for the children.

Oldest Refugee 89
Oldest of the refugees aboard was Angla Ceballos de Marero, 89, grandmother of one of the prisoners. The youngest was a baby born 22 days ago.

As a "Christmas bonus," Castro agreed to let the relatives leave Cuba, following the prisoners who spent 20 months in Castro's crowded jails after the gallant but futile effort to free their country from his rule.

Chief topic of conversation aboard the ship was the plight of a man who was turned away as the African Pilot prepared to move out.

A shabbily dressed Negro raced up the rising gangplank shrieking "ayudame (help me)!" Wednesday night as the African Pilot made ready to cast off.

Guards on deck, strictly charged to let no more aboard the crowded craft, regretfully barred his entry. Two Cuban soldiers died on the pier scrambled up and yanked their trembling countryman back to the dock.

A man in worker's clothes threw an arm around his shoulders and led him away. Two armed soldiers followed the pair around a corner of a warehouse crammed with $11 million in drugs and food which the African Pilot brought to Cuba Sunday as down payment on a $53 million commodity ransom for 1,113 men.

Castro's troops captured in the April 17, 1961 invasion at the Bay of Pigs.

The outbound African Pilot glided past Morro Castle, ancient stone sentinel of Havana Harbor, at 6:51 p.m.—about two hours later than scheduled.

Its human cargo traveled north with little or nothing more than the clothing each passenger wore. Other items—even Cuban money of dubious value outside Cuba, they had to surrender before embarking.

A corps of American Red Cross nurses and doctors worked to ease the voyage for the voluntary exiles. Cots, blankets and sanitary equipment flown to Cuba for the voyage were doled out.

In another development, President Kennedy planned a conference at Palm Beach, where he is spending the Christmas holidays, with five liberated leaders of the invasion force which was beaten back in its Cuba attack 20 months ago.

Stoppage

Key issue in the dispute is the size of dock work gangs, which the ship owners want cut from the present minimum of 20 to 17. The longshoremen refused, saying they will not negotiate their members out of jobs in the name of automation.

A four-day strike of longshoremen over the same issues was halted last October by an 80-day "cooling-off" period under the terms of the Taft-Hartley law. The strike was resumed when the cooling-off period expired.

Talks

same time to satisfy Pakistan's fears the arms would ultimately be turned against her, an ally of the West.

Ayub Khan and Indian Prime Minister Nehru have agreed to meet if their lower-level negotiators can make enough progress to promise a settlement.

Red China claims about 15,000 square miles of Kashmir and has taken practically all that she claims in the Tadhk part of the state on India's side of the U.N. cease-fire line.

Fighting has stopped under China's self-proclaimed cease-fire, but the Chinese are not pulling back as they are in India's north-eastern border area. Nehru has declared he will never bow to the Red Chinese claim.

But Indian officials have feared ever since last May, when Pakistan announced she would negotiate an interim boundary agreement with Red China, that Pakistani officials would give way to Peking.

According to India, the Chinese claim 3,700 square miles of Kashmir on the northeast slopes of the Karakoram Mountain range and on Pakistan's side of the U.N. cease-fire line. They said Pakistan's maps show only about half of this area as belonging to Pakistan.

India's chief negotiator for the talks here, Railways Minister Sirdar Swaran Singh, said in an interview Wednesday night that under certain conditions India might agree to one of Pakistan's most important demands, a plebiscite in Kashmir.

Trains

were attributed directly to the weather. Included were two men buried on an Alpine path by an avalanche.

Snowplows churned in Copenhagen, Denmark, where temperatures hovered around freezing.

Paris, dusted with snow, awoke to freezing weather. Germany was mostly free of fresh snow, but it was cold—14 to 17 degrees.

The Dutch skated on their frozen canals, and in Oslo, Norway, the day was clear and freezing.

But Hammerfest, which is farther north than Nome, Alaska, was having "mild" weather. It was 32 degrees above zero and most of the snow had been washed away by mild rain. Some residents thought it might be due to the Soviet nuclear tests some 900 miles to the east.

Deputy To Return Two County Youths

LISBON — James Miller of Salineville, Columbiana County juvenile probation officer, will fly to Albuquerque, N. M., tonight to return two East Liverpool boys, aged 16 and 17.

New Mexico authorities said the boys were apprehended for three burglaries there and admitted 10 other burglaries in Oklahoma and Illinois.

Miller and the youths are due back Saturday. The boys will receive hearings before Juvenile Court Judge Louis Tobin.

STEER CLUB TO MEET

LISBON — The Columbiana County Steer Club will meet at 8 p.m. today in Lisbon Grange hall for a movie, "The Rumor Story", and talks by Miss Janet Ferguson of Wellsville, a club member, and by a feed company representative. Business will include election of three adults and three club members to the county steer committee which governs club activities.

Hints from Heloise

— By Heloise Cruse —

By HELOISE CRUSE

Dear Heloise: Make a "hair-do" apron from a large bath-towel that has become too thin for good drying. Fold in half crosswise cut out a circle to fit the neck and cut an opening down the front. Bind with bias tape. This also helps use up odds and ends of tape!

Sew a large pocket at the bottom of the apron. It can be made from a washcloth or from the circular piece cut from the neck hold. Make a smaller narrow pocket on the other side.

In the large pocket keep rollers or clips. In the small pocket keep your comb. This is easy to work with when putting your hair up, keeps your dress clean, and is easy to launder as it needs no ironing.

I put this hair-do apron on when I take my hair down. I put the curlers in the large pocket, the comb in the narrow pocket and put the apron away. By doing this, everything is ready when I want to "do up" my hair the next time.

GOOD NEIGHBOR.

Court Rejects Lie Test for Dr. Sheppard

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Dr. Samuel H. Sheppard refused to submit to lie detector tests during investigation of his wife's murder and so, the Ohio Supreme Court has decided, he forfeited any right to be given such tests now. "The relator's mind can presently hold no secrets which it did not hold at the time of the trial," Asst. Atty. Gen. Aubrey A. Wendt said in a demurrer to a mandamus suit filed on behalf of the former Bay Village osteopath.

The Supreme Court evidently agreed.

It sustained the demurrer Wednesday, refusing to order polygraph and-or hypnosis tests for the 38-year-old Sheppard, who is serving a life sentence for the July 4, 1954, death of his wife. Convicted of second-degree murder, Sheppard, now in Marion Correctional Institution, becomes eligible for parole within the next two years.

Attorney F. Lee Bailey of Boston, who made the request that Corrections Commissioner Maury Koblenz be compelled to allow the tests, told the court only fear of the results was blocking the examinations. Bailey contends such tests could establish Sheppard's innocence and bear out his story that his pregnant wife, Marilyn, was bludgeoned fatally by a bushy-haired intruder who then grappled with the doctor and knocked him unconscious.

Mrs. Eva Schrader spent Christmas with Mr. and Mrs. Norman Barnett.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Shuler of Alliance were Christmas dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Delmar Zurbrugg of Ellett Rd.

Mr. and Mrs. Zurbrugg attended at a recent family dinner at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Zurbrugg.

is absolutely true. I tried this hint and found it so satisfactory that now everytime I cook fish sticks or anything in the oven which requires fresh lemon juice, a few minutes before the food is done, I place my lemons in the oven and heat them for a few minutes.

After doing this a few times, I came across a better idea: Now, instead of just heating one lemon which is enough for only the usual supper, I put three or four lemons in the oven. I let these cool and place in my refrigerator. The next time it's tea time, I've got the juiciest lemons in town!

HELOISE

DEAR HELOISE: A recent reader requested a way to remove wax from dining room tables. I don't know what type of wax she is referring to, but I put a liquid furniture wax on my dining room table and could not remove it with anything but baking soda.

Baking soda applied with a slightly dampened sponge did a beautiful job. I want to add that my table top is coated with a clear plastic.

DEAR HELOISE: A thin coating of shortening over the bottom piecrust before baking and putting in the filling keeps mine from getting soggy.

A sponge in every soap tray and you have a soap filled pad to wash the sink with!

"SUSIE Z."

DEAR HELOISE: Here's a little tip for ladies who drive. To protect the back of your shoe from dirt and scuff, get a soft sponge and put it on the floor board of the car under the brake pedal. The heel of the shoe will rest on the sponge and not on the floor board and the shoe will stay clean and free from marks of any kind.

With The Patients

Harold Samples of Canton and Alfred Kremer of RD1, Salem, who were admitted to Salem City Hospital Wednesday for treatment-truck accident on Alternate Route 14 east of Salem yesterday morning, are reported to be in fairly good condition today at the hospital.

Martin Schmidt of 990 Liberty St. severely lacerated his left hand when he caught it in a buzz saw while at work at the Imperial Upholstering Company at 8:45 a.m. today. He was transferred from the Salem City Hospital to Youngstown Southside Hospital for treatment.

William Quinn, 12, son of William Quinn of Homeworth, punctured his head with a lead pencil and was treated and released at 3 p.m. Wednesday at Alliance City Hospital.

JUST FOLLOW ONE ROUTE NUMBER — The new International Bridge linking the United States and Canada at S. Marie, Mich., stands at the northern terminus of Interstate Highway 75, a federal freeway which, when every link is completed, will have its southern end in Florida. On the Canadian side, top background, it connects with the 5,000-mile Trans-Canada Highway. Tolls on the two-mile-long, $20 million bridge are $1.25 per car for a one-way crossing or $1.80 round trip. A 10-foot-high, 800 foot-long fence, directly above obstructs a majestic view at oints. It was put up to prevent the throwing of objects on passing ships.
